

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An object of the present invention is to provide a developing device that has a developer bearing member, and a developer container for 5 containing a developer, the developer container including a developer containing portion, a partition member dividing an interior of the developer containing portion into a plurality of rooms, and a cover for covering the developer containing portion,
10 wherein the partition member is molded integrally with the cover.

204000 65F600F